FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

FAQ

1. What ages and skill level are PGA Academy golf camps geared towards?

PGA Golf Academy camps are offered to young athletes aged 6 through 18. Our programs are designed to accommodate players of all skill levels from beginner to advanced high school players. For more advanced junior golfers, PGA Academy offers our Summer Combine, which is led and coached by our Director of Golf and Top 100 golf instructor Kevin Smeltz. This program is strict by invitation only.

2. How are the students supervised?

Campers are supervised by staff at all times, on and off the course. Our staff are chosen not only for their golf teaching ability, but also for their understanding of how children and teens best develop.

3. Is my child on the driving range all day?

What other activities are planned? The majority of our camp sessions are spent at the practice facilities but our training time is by means repetitive. With our unique curriculum developed exclusively by PGA Youth Development, we integrate learning with fun. Our instruction combines skill development with games, friendly competitions and other activities that serve as a vehicle for learning. We teach a love for the game.

4. What if my child has never golfed?

We are excited to welcome new junior golfers! As one of our primary goals is to introduce the game of golf to youth across China, we present golf as a relaxed, non-intimidating and incredibly enjoyable experience for future golfers. Our curriculum has been developed to make this introduction.

5. Is there a benefit to registering for consecutive weeks of camps?

By registering for multiple weeks of camp, your child will experience continued game development, as our instructors will have the opportunity to really get to know your child, his or her game, and how to bring out the best in him or her.
